Srticken Nation's Tribute to Memory of Senator Hanna

There were no distressing incidents attend-ing the last moments. It was a sinking spell which terminated in ten minutes. Just after his eyes closed in death Mrs. Hanna was able to come into the room. She bore up well under the ordeal and to-night she is showing calmness and bravery Mrs. Hanna was the subject of the greatest Nevertheless, the remonstrances of the phyvailing until late in the afternoon, when she was attacked by a violent headache. She was given a narcotic, and then she retired to her chamber, but requested that a call be sent as soon as there appeared to be any change for the worse

For the last two days Senator Hanna had not been conscious except at intervals, and then only to obey mechanically some instructions given him by the physicians. Fourteen bours before the end was an-nounced life had practically suspended, the flickering spark being kept aglow by the most powerful scientific agencies. Five minutes before death came Gen

Charles A. Dick came from the bedside with the announcement: "He is worse, and has only a few moments at the most." That statement immediately prefaced the last official bulletin, which was: "Senator Hanna sank gradually during the afternoon and died quietly at 6:40 o'clock." NEWS SPREAD LIKE A FLASH.

Mr. Dover, the senator's secretary, read the bulletin to the newspaper men who were walting. Word went over the hotel like a flash. The lobby was crowded, and a score of friends were waiting in Mr. Dover's Though it was known five minutes before that the word probably would be the ed his last, the effect to his friends was almost that of a sudden shock. No attempts were made to restrain grief. Senators Fairbanks, Scott and Kittredge broke down. They had remained at the hotel the entire day and knew that there was no hope, but that proved no guard against the tears which sprung unbidden to their eyes and ran down their cheeks. General Dick wept his sorrow at the loss of a friend who had been a brother. His associations with Senstor Hanna were born in politics, but they acknowledged leaders of the political parties, kings of finance and commerce, and men selected to serve in the highest po sitions in the Nation were among those who expressed the country's immeasurable loss. Friends at once took charge of the funeral arrangements. Such will be held in the Senate Chamber at noon Wednesday, at which the President, Cabinet, Congress, public officials and friends will be present. For a brief period in the forenoon the body will He in state in the marble room. After the services special trains over the Pennsylvania Railroad will carry the body, the family, and friends to Cleveland, where services will be held either at the home of the senator or of his son, Dan Hanna, on Friday afternoon. It is likely that Bishop Legnard, of the Northern Diocese of Ohio, of the Episcopal Church and formerly rector of St. John's Church in this city, will conduct the services.

ute were heard on every side. Men who are

PRESIDENT NOTIFIED. Compared with the numbers which had been about the hotel during the day, there were few persons present when the announcement of death was made. Telephone calls and messengers were sent out, however, and the lobby and corridors filled rap-Senators and representatives visited the hotel throughout the evening and many of the dead man's friends were admitted to the death chamber. Postmaster General Payne sent word to President Roosevelt, and he expressed deep sorrow at the fatal termination of the illness.

The last intelligible words spoken by Senator Hanna were pathetic in his attempt to maintain to the last the humor which was characteristic of his life. Yesterday morning he moved his head slightly and his eyes rolled a little to the right and then to the left. The nurse in close attendance anticipated his want, and bending to the patient's ear asked him if he was looking for his handkerchief.

"I think my wife has my handkerchief," the senator whispered. Members of the family, eager for any sign of consciousness or recognition which the senator might display, were told of the remark, and they at once recognized it as one of his favorite rejoinders in good-natured plaguing, in which Mr. and Mrs. Hanna often indulged. It was the senator's custom when he missed any personal ar-

"I expect my wife has it." At about 11 o'clock yesterday the senator became unconscious, and thereafter, though strained every nerve to detect a return of recognition, the senator did not speak a appear to know what was going on about Occasionally he mumbled a few sounds, but nothing could be made of them

When it was known that there was no for recovery arrangements were tor U. S. J. Dunbar, and that was done early this evening. The cast will be perfect, and, strange as it may seem, will show the face in its usual fullness. The senator's face shows little emaciation, and, owing to what appears to be a coat of tan, which gave it almost a lifelike appearance. President Roosevelt called at the Arlington to-night personally to express his con-

Hanna's family. He saw Mrs. Hanna, Mr. Dan R. Hanna, his son, and remained with The President walked to the hotel unattended and spent some time with Postmaster General Payne, who also lives at the Arlington, both before and after his visit to the Hanna family. He returned to the some consideration has been given by the President and several members of the Cabinet to the question of accompanying the funeral party to the place of interment of the late senator's remains in Ohio. The matter, however, is still undecided. The President would like to go very much, and

A large number of messages were sent Herrick, announcing the death. Through- usual. out the evening there was a steady stream of callers and messages of condolence. Secretary Cortelyou, Speaker Cannon, Senator Fairbanks, of Indiana, and John R. Mcthose personally to offer their regrets.

DR. CARTER'S STATEMENT PROGRESS OF DISEASE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 .- Dr. E. P. Carter, of Cleveland, one of the attending physicians, to-night made the following statement regarding Mr. Hanna's illness: evening after a most superb fight against a very virulent attack of typhoid fever. The senator had not been well for some weeks,

Spring Styles

Stetson's and Miller's

Fine Stiff and Soft Hats are now ready for your inspection. These are the best Hats

New Patterns of

Manhattan Shirts

Danbury Hat Co. No. 8 East Washington St.

MRS. AUGUSTA HANNA, WIDOW OF THE DEAD STATESMAN.

ing the past fifteen days. 'From the early course of the disease, severity of the infection and the outlook at first seemd bright. Since Sunday, the 7th, the progress of the fever became more likely to render the case more serious than a marked, there being a gradual rise in the severity of the infection and the outlook age, sixty-six years, and his known prephysical condition that during that period, by common consent, newspaper men here did not seek the usual interviews with him, but assisted Secretary Elmer Dover to in-Wednesday the evidences of a severe toxic condition were such as to make the psysiclans in attendance anxious as to the ultimate outcome, though counting some on Mr. Hanna's indomitable will, they contin-

"The early inability to retain nourishment was finally overcome and the case seemed to be progressing more favorably, when on Friday last, in the afternoon, the senator had a sever chill, a most unusual occurrence in the course of typhoid fever. Following this his temperature rose rapidly. reaching 105 that night, and the evidences of profound toxemia were marked. During | sentatives. the last days of Senator Hanna's illness he was able to retain the nourishment given and responded in a way little short of marvelous to every treatment which was resorted to, rallying promptly from a series of collapses which, at intervals, followed the chill of Friday. Saturday had been such a favorable day that his physicians took courage and even then hoped for a favorable outcome. The change for the worse came early this morning and was followed by a gradual failure of his strength, which had been overtaxed by the severity of the disease. His wonderful recuperative power was such that, though the end had been expected at almost any time during the early hours of Monday morning, he clung tenaciously to life until this evening, when he succumbed."

SENATOR HANNA WAS ILL ABOUT TWO MONTHS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 .- Senator Hanna's fatal illness in its beginning dates back nearly two months. About the middle of December he informed his friends that he did not feel quite well, but declined to take a period of rest, which all fully realized how much he needed. Although he had been complaining for two or three days, he left i Washington on Thursday afternoon, Dec. 17, to attend a meeting of the executive committee of the Civic Federation which was held in New York on Friday and Saturday. His deep interest in the work of the ticle, and especially his handkerchief, to federation induced him to thus expose himself. He was able to attend the sessions of the committee and to participate in its deliberations, but on Saturday night he was the physicians and members of the family stricken with what was pronounced by Dr. George E. Brewer, his attending physician word that could be understood, nor did he to be grip. He was confined to his apartments in the Waldorf-Astoria for nearly four days, but on the afternoon of Wednesand his little pleasantry were the last words | day, Dec. 23, he was able to leave for his home in Cleveland. He became better or his arrival there and on Saturday, the 26th, made to have a death mask taken by Sculp- appeared at his office in his usual spirits,

On Sunday, Jan. 10, Mr. Hanna left for Columbus to be present at the proceedings incident to his re-election to the United the constant use of oxygen, has taken on States Senate. He remained in Columbus until the following Wednesday afternoon, thronged with friends of the senator, SORROW AT THE LATE when he returned to Cleveland. During his dolence to the members of the late Senator greeting hundreds of his friends without an Ohio, toward whom Mr. Hanna had sus-Jan. 16. He was fatigued on account of his trip and the excitement and strain of the incidents of the week, but was in excellent spirits and received with characteristic cheerfulness and manifest pleasure the congratulations of his friends on his re-election White House after 10 o'clock accompanied

HIS LAST ATTACK.

On the following Tuesday, Jan. 19, Senator Hanna was obliged to remain in his General Rixey was called and pronounced the sickness a recurrence of the recent attack of the grip. Some fever was noted, it is possible he may go. The matter, how- but no more than usually is an incident of that disease. In a day or two the senator was better and for several days thereafter out by the Hanna family and by Governor he attended to business practically as

> On the following Tuesday the senator's symptoms became more serious and he was ordered by Dr. Rixey to discontinue all work likely to produce nervous strain and Complying with these directions he became better and was well enough on the night of jovially, no attack of the grip could in-

The next morning he showed no ill efduring the day received and chatted with the end. about forty of his friends. He was in fine spirits, earnest and aggressive, and showed to those to whom he conversed the best of "Senator Hanna died quietly at 6:40 this whom he talked that day was James J. Hill, the financier and railroad magnate. They talked for nearly two hours about the financial and political situations, the Northern Securities case, and other incidental topics. That was the last really important conference on general subjects of public interest in which Mr. Hanna participated. Late in the afternoon of Wednesday, Feb. Senator Hanna suffered an alarming relapse. Drs. Rixey and Magruder were summoned hastily and found their patient surfering from a congestive attack. His tem- MR. PAYNE NOTIFIES perature had risen to over 100 and he was very weak. An examination developed the fact that his vital organs were in good condition and performing their functions properly. Several days ago the senator was troubled to some extent by an affection of the heart and at first it was feared that if a serious sickness should develop a fatal termination might ensue through the failure of the heart to respond to the demands of nature or to artificial stimulants. The examination of the heart conditions, however, were reassuring to the physicians. DIAGNOSED AS TYPHOID FEVER. Having been impressed by Dr. Brewer's treatment in New York, Senator Hanna requested that physician be sent for to consult Drs. Rixey and Hagruder. On his arrival here Dr. Brewer agreed with the diagnosis of the attending physicians. Dr. William Osler, the eminent diagnostician of the Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, was summoned to the bedside of the and in his devotion to their service, insenator. Discovering some symptoms of spiration for the performance of the high typhoid fever, he suggested that an examination of the senator's blood be made to determine definitely whether the pereptible diminution of the patient's strength | presence may pay affectionate tribute to fering from a case of irregular typhoid fever. This announcement aroused the keenest apprehensions among his friends. there was no evidence as to the intense It was realized that the senator's advanced Cormick and his niece, Miss Phelps, already were at the bedside of the patient, but it was not deemed necessary by the physicians to summon other members of the family. The most profound solicitude was manifested by Senator Hanna's friends in Washington and throughout the country. Anxious inquiries as to the patient's condition were made almost momentarily throughout each day as his illness progressed. Particularly solicitous were the President and Mrs. Roosevelt, the members of the Cabinet and Mr. Hanna's colleagues in the Senate and in the House of Repre-

Mr. Hanna worried considerably about his work in the Senate, and finally, at his suggestion, such matters as he was particularly interested in and which required immediate attention were placed in the hands of Senator Fairbanks, of Indiana.

GREW VERY WEAK. Excessive weakness characterized the senator's condition on Sunday, the 7th inst. He was too weak, indeed, to converse at any length and appeared to be distressed about his business interests. To relieve his mind of any such cares it had been deemed desirable to summon his brother, H. M. Han- McKinley." na, from Thomasville, Ga. He arrived in Washington late Sunday night and was fol- CANDIDATES FOR THE lowed a few hours later by Dr. Edward Perkins Carter, Senator Hanna's family physician, from Cleveland. After a consultation of Drs. Rixey, Osler and Carter on Monday, the 8th, it was announced that the fever had developed into a regular type of typhoid. The senator gradually grew weaker, his fever continued alarmingly high and on Thursday the reading of his pulse indicated that it had mounted to over 100. Powerful stimulants were given the patient and in both his general condition and in his heart action he re-

was used to stimulate the heart. It became evident on Thursday night that Senator Hanna was in a most serious, if larity the liquid nourishment given him. Very little nourishment could be given the patient Thursday night and Friday and his excessive weakness became alarming. He early hours of Friday morning and afternoon, but soon after 2 o'clock Friday afternoon he was seized with a chill. His fever increased materially and his pulse became so rapid that it was thought the end was approaching. Oxygen was administered, but the announcement was made from the sick room that it was thought the distinguished

BLOW TO FRIENDS. The announcement came as a blow to Mr. Hanna's anxious friends. President and apparently quite recovered from his attack Mrs. Roosevelt, both of whom had called on Mrs. Hanna earlier in the day to convey their profound sympathy, arranged to receive frequent bulletins of the senator's Legislature. condition. The Arlington Hotel was Among those were his brother, H. M. Hancheerful, enduring the physical strain of na, and Representative Charles Dick, of indication of weakness. He arrived in Washington from Cleveland on Saturday, tained the relation rather of an elder brother than that of a personal and political associate. Their optimism seemed to be warranted Friday night, for quite unexpectedly Senator Hanna rallied toward midnight and showed signs of marked improve-The official bulletins announce that the senator had passed a comfortable night eral times reached 105 degrees. Application perature considerably. During Saturday ne was unconscious a larger part of the time, but showed improvement during the day, which gave the family hope to believe that he would yet make good use of the "fighting chance" of recovery which the back during the day, the latest bulletin, issued at 11 o'clock, describing it as a "gain-

The wearing effect of the sickness of the patient, however, was again evident Saturday night, when he manifested increased weakness, although on the whole the night Lean, of Ohio, being among the earliest of to remain quietly in bed for a few days. | was comfortably passed. When the morning bulletin was issued, at 9:30 o'clock Sun-Saturday, Jan. 30, to attend the annual din- high and the respiration was 40. . He had ner of the Gridiron Club, which he remarked | several fainting spells during the day, but rallied slightly from both, but as night came it was realized that all hope must be abandoned, and that it was merely a quesfects of his attendance at the dinner and | tion of how many hours would elapse before

The senator during all the latter days of his illness, even while oblivious to all save | consider what will be the best method of his doctor's efforts in his behalf, astonwhich he clang to life and the determination with which his strong will aided their efforts to avert death. From Sunday on the sick man grew weaker and responded more and more feebly to the powerful stimulants and oxygen applied by the physicians until finally the strong vital forces which had carried the senator through his active, aggressive life, completely succumbed and came to a final stop at 6:40 o'clock this evening. NATIONAL COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 .- Postmaster General Payne, vice chairman of the Re- | WAS A GRAND OLD MAN; publican national committee, has sent the following telegram to each member of the

"With inexpressible sorrow it becomes my duty to officially advise you of the demise this day of our chairman, Senator Marcus A. Hanna.

"As conferees, our intimacy has furnished testimony most eloquent to his rare wisdom, his steadfast friendship and fidelity, his manly and brave characteristics. "As citizens we know full well that he was more a patriot than a partisan; more to realize how largely he was identified an American than a Republican. While the Nation is deprived of one of its ablest types of citizenship, we shall find in his love of country and of his countrymen,

"You are requested to attend at Washington, on the 17th inst., that we by our an incalculable loss. He was a grand man. State, westward to Logansport and northwas due to the ravages of that disease. our departed associate at the funeral cereon the following day, Feb. 5, the physimonies which will that day be held in the years of personal and political associate two days occupied by this trip, and that clans announced that Mr. Hanna was suf- Senate chamber."

OHIO LEGISLATURE TO ADJOURN FOR ONE WEEK AS A MARK OF RESPECT

Members Pay Tribute to the Man They Elected Senator Only a Month Ago.

SORROW AT CLEVELAND

Where Mr. Hanna Was Beloved by His Fellow-Townsmen-Successorship Gossip.

COLUMBUS, C., Feb. 15 .- Profound sorrow is expressed by State officials and citizens of Columbus over the death of Senator Hanna. Many touching tributes were paid to-night to his memory by members of the Ohio General Assembly, which only one month ago re-elected him to the United States Senate.

The Legislature will to-morrow adjourn for one week as a mark of respect. Incidentally, this action will give further time for deliberation on the matter of electing a successor to Senator Hanna, which duty falls on the present General Assembly and by statutory requirement must be performed within two weeks after official notification of the senator's death. On account of the proposed adjournment, official notification cannot be given before Tuesday of next week. As a result the election probably will be held on March 8. Mr. Hanna had been a periodical visitor to Cono means a well man during his last visit here, and it was out of regard for his but assisted Secretary Elmer Dover to insure his getting as much rest as possible. On the day he was elected, Jan. 13, when he had finished his short speech of acceptance, delivered before the Senate and House in joint session, the effect of the strain under which he was laboring was apparent to those near him. Some of his friends were greatly alarmed, and only breathed easier when he was safely got out of the Statehouse. At the close of his speech, the blood rushed to his head and for a moment his neck was of a purple hue. Former Governor Nash on learning of Senator Hanna's death to-night, said: While under the intense shock which one feels when he has just heard of the death of a dear friend, he cannot speak worthily of that friend, nor do himself justice if he attempts to do so. The great Nation, to which he was patriotically devoted, will be the most sincere mourner at his bier. This is as it should be, for it was in her service that his life was sacrificed. Secretary of State Lewis C. Laylin said: No public man was more steadfast in devotion to his friends; always frank and helpful in counsel, his advice was invaluable. His knowledge of men and their fitness for official postion was remarkable.

His party gratefully remembers his wonderful organization for the nomination of

VACANT SENATORSHIP CINCINNATI, Feb. 15 .- As the Ohio Legislature is now in session, Senator Hanna's successor will not be appointed by the Governor, but at once elected for the terms expiring in March, 1905 and in March, 1911. Less than seven years ago Hanna, who had never before held office, succeeded John Sherman as senator and had over seven years yet to serve, having just last month sponded admirably. A saline solution was been re-elected. During the past week injected into his system to repair the im- there has been much comment about the poverishment of his blood and strichnine senatorial succession. Among the names mentioned in this connection have been those of Governor Herrick, Charles P. Taft and George B. Cox, of Cincinnati, J. H. not most critical, condition. Until that time | Hoyt, of Cleveland, Gen. J. Warren Keifer, he had taken and assimilated with regu- of Springfield, General Asa W. Jones, of Youngstown, and Congressmen Dick, Grosvenor, Burton, Navin and Warnock. Senator Hanna lived in northeastern and Senator Foraker in southwestern Ohio. It is claimed by some that geographical conditions are likely to add to the chances of Governor Herrick or Congressman Dick, who reside in lake districts. While Senator Foraker resides in Cincinnati, the friends of Taft and Cox cite the case of their Indiana neighbors where Senators Fairbanks and Beveridge both reside in Indianapolis. It is now recalled that two men have died within a month who would have been candidates for the senatorship had they lived-ex-Governor Charles Foster and ex-Governor Asa S. Bushnell. For years candidates for United States senators

HOME OF THE SENATOR

have been indorsed by State conventions,

so the legislative action was merely perfunctory, but now there is every indication of an old-time free-for-all fight before the death had been momentarily expected for many hours in this, his home city, the a most severe shock and caused profound sorrow in all quarters. In an incredible short space of time following the death Friday night, though his temperature sev- of the senator the newspapers had out special extra editions which were eagerly of sponge baths, however, reduced the tem- read by all classes of people. Crowds gathered in front of the newspaper offices to read the bulletins describing the final scenes in the death chamber. Not since the death of President Mc-Kinley has there been such universal sorrow in Cleveland on all sides as was mani- posite political party. physicians said he had. There was no set- fested when the fact of Senator Hanna's death became known.

The City Council to-day adopted resolutions of sympathy and esteem to the memory of the late Senator Hanna and thereupon adjourned. The resolutions contain the statement that Senator Hanna was one of the country's most eminent statesmen and the first citizen of Cleveland and expresses sympathy to the friends and family of the deceased. The Council chamber was draped in mourning and the entire City Hall will be draped to-morrow.

As rapidly as the work can be done all Council will attend the funeral in a body. Mayor Johnson has sent a letter to seven representative citizens asking them to meet him at his office to-morrow afternoon to honoring the memory of Senator Hanna and to arrange a fitting programme on the

The following telegram has been sent to Elmer Dover, Mr. Hanna's secretary, by Col. J. J. Sullivan, president of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce: "On behalf of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce I desire to express the deep sense of loss which this city and the entire country has sustained in the death of Senator Hanna. The measure of his greatness is everywhere recognized, and his death will be mourned by all the people. The Chamber of Commerce Hall and the entire organization is at your disposal, and the directors beg that you utilize the Chamber in every way pos-

G. B. COX'S TRIBUTE

CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 15.-George B. Cox, the Republican leader of Hamilton county one of the closest friends of Hanna,

"Senator Hanna's death will be felt more in days to come than now. The business by Chairman Goodrich from Senator Hanna community has always appreciated him, for they knew him closely. with public affairs, and how his influence was always directed to the public good. As the first shock that follows the death of such a person wears away we all begin more pened. He has passed away, but his deeds His unselfishness was the characteristic

No need to announce mapl-flake to the many thousands who daily enjoy its benefits.

But for those who have yet to learn of its goodness of taste and its strength of nourishment,—let us repeat again that there's nothing made from wheat that can compare with it.

Crisp flakes of the finest wheat, toasted to a delicious brown, and delicately flavored with pure maple syrup. Thoroughly cooked and always ready to serve.

Don't take substitutes -- your grocer can furnish Mapi-Flake

Citizens of This City Pay Loving

many respects remarkable, and the sustained enthusiasm with which Senator

Hanna was received was a revelation, even to Senator Hanna, who was deeply touched by it, and found in it ample recompense for the weariness of the trip, which, owing to his enfeebled condition at that time, was crowds were tremendous. At Marion there stood patiently awaiting a belated train for hours in order to hear him. Darkness fell shortly after the departure from Marion, but at points beyond there were crowds of people who had waited his coming into the evening hours, and would, evidently, have remained until midnight it order to get a glimpse of Mark Hanna and at South Bend, with which the trip con

"There never was better manifestation given of tremendous personal popularity

than was offered to Senator Hanna during those days, and he gave every evidence of appreciation, saying on one occasion that if he were not a Buckeye he would want to live in Indiana. The effect of that trip was to inject the fighting spirit into Repub licans all over the State-all of them, practically, following the Senator's tour through the newspapers where they were not privileged to hear him in person. If Senator

Hanna had lived through another national campaign and had again visited Indiana it would be difficult, judging from his growing popularity in the State, to figure standing room for those who would have flocked to hear and see that grand old man of Re-

James P. Goodrich, chairman of the Re-

"In the death of Senator Hanna the coun-stood nearer the people than did he. He was a strong, stalwart figure in American politics, and no one in his generation pos-sessed a stronger hold on the American people. He was called to the head of the Republican party at a most critical time.

and the manner in which he conducted the memorable campaigns of 1896 and 1900

stamped him as the greatest political or-gauizer of his time. No such word as fail ulary. Caricatured in the beginning as the oppressor of labor, he became recognized

HARRY S. NEW PAYS

TRIBUTE TO MR. HANNA

Harry S. New, of this city, who as a

"In the death of Senator Hanna I feel not only the loss of a great man, such as the country can ill afford to lose, but a personal loss as well, for he was very kind to me and I valued most highly his friendship.

The saying, 'To know him was to love him'

has become somewhat trite, but it could be most fittingly applied to Senator Hanna.

He was a lovable man and few men have

man. His friends always recognized that,

but it took some time for the general pub-lie to learn it. That was simply because during the first few years he was taking such a prominent part in the affairs of the country the people did not become acquainted with him. He kept in the background. As a result he was greatly maligned, and no man in American public life was ever pursued and attacked with the viciousness that the opposition press went after him. Much of this never affected him.

hurt him. He felt their injustice keenly.

but only his close friends knew that he severe loss to the country and to his party.

There are far too few such men in public

Aside from his knowledge of the dead

statesman which his duties induced, Hugh

H. Hanna, of this city, was a close personal the two men made Mr. Hanna feel the senator's death keenly. Mr. Hanna made the following statement to the Journal last

"It was my privilege to know and value

the gentler side of Senator Hanna's nature.

A GUARANTEED CURE FOR PILES.

THE LATE SENATOR

HUGH H. HANNA ON

winced. The death of Senator Hanna is a

but I know that the Davenport cartoons

"Senator Hanna was a great and good

been so highly regarded by their friends.

member of the Republican national committee had been closely associated with Senator Hanna since 1900, said last evening:

PAYS HIGH TRIBUTE

CHAIRMAN GOODRICH

publicanism.'

of Senator Hanna:

that at Indianapolis the night before.

"In several of the gas belt cities the

(CONCLUDED FROM FIRST PAGE.) spond to the wishes of his beloved friend and leader, as a soldier to the sound of captuin's voice-not because Mark Hanna was in any sense a weak or yielding man, but because in William McKinley he had found his ideal of manhood and of statesmanship. So well was this understood before McKinley died that when the President was stricken down there was mingled with the sorrow of the people a feeling of sympathy for the loyal friend whose heart went into the grave with Wil-

With President McKinley all political ambitions, except of the most impersonal nature, perished in the case of Senator Hanna. The leader was dead, but the cause was left-a cause broader than the limits of partisanship-the cause of the American people. He labored for the amelioration of industrial conditions with an unselfish zeal which won for him the confidence of workingmen, and which has resulted in bringing thousands of employers to a better realization of their responsibility to society. With William McKinley that love of the workingman which has so often been the device of the demagogue was in a genuine sense a part of his political religion, and it was so with Mark Hanna, who said, in sincerity, that he would rather be successful in his efforts to establish a "just and lasting peace" between capital and labor than to be President of the United "Since the death of William McKinle, Senator Hanna has inherited much of the hold upon the love of the people which the late President had secured to himself. As popular figure he has been the overshadowing figure of American politics since McKinley's death. Because he was a figure mique in American political life, it is no disparagement to the present occupant of the White House to say that unnumbered thousands of Mark Hanna's countrymen had long hoped earnestly for an opportunity to join in conferring upon him the greatest official distinction which can come to an American citizen. "And yet, what can be said that better expresses the place which this man held in he national life than to say that the presidency would have added nothing to the career of Marcus A. Hanna?"

I. HAMPTON MOORE KNEW MR. HANNA WELL

J. Hampton Moore, of Philadelphia, president of the National League of Republican Clubs, who was in the city yesterday, knew Senator Hanna well. "I first became closely associated with Senator Hanna in 1900, when I was secretary of the citizens' committee of Philadelphia that had charge of the arrangements for the Republican national convention." said Mr. Moore last evening at the English "I had an opportunity then to observe his remarkable qualities as an organizer and ever found a place in his political vocabas a business man who could handle a multitude of large affairs, and to learn as well the personal characteristics that endeared during his later years as the trusted friend him to all who knew him. He was a wonderful man. I met him at a number of the dinners of the Gridiron Club, in Washing- of the average man, and in his speech openton, and I have always been impressed ing the convention of 1900 his advice to the by the high regard in which he was held | convention was to 'always trust the peo-CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 15 .- Notwith- by the newspaper men. No man ever at- ple.' He trusted them. standing that the news of Senator Hanna's tended the Gridiron dinners who was so to have implicit confidence in him. loved and esteemed by the members of the

"Senator Hanna's public career was re- fought in the open with a courage that announcement of his passing away came as | markable. Eight years ago his name was | commanded the admiration and respect of | scarcely known outside his own city, or | those who did not agree with his concluoutside his own State at the most. His sions. His death is a distinct loss to the friendship for McKinley drew him into poli- | country, and in the councils of the Repubties, and within a few months he became lican party his place will be difficult to the party's leader. He did not seek prominence himself and was determined to keep out of the public eye until his friends forced him before the country that the people might know him personally and learn that there was no basis for the vicious attacks made on him by the newspapers of the op-"Within the last few months he was severely criticised, even by some Republicans, because he did not follow up his statement that he was not a candidate for the presidency by an indorsement of President Roosevelt. This was altogether uncalled for. In his position as the head of the party organization he could no more declare for Mr. Roosevelt for President than the chairman of the Republican organization in Indiana could pick out one of the candidates for Governor and indorse him. It is true that Mr. Roosevelt was the only avowed candidate for President, but Senapublic buildings will be draped. The tor Hanna could not, in fairness, take an attitude that would preclude any other man's entering the race. I don't believe that this point has ever been brought out in connection with the discussion of this "It will be a long time before Senator Hanna's place is filled, either in the party organization or in public affairs."

SENATOR HANNA'S SPEECHES IN INDIANA

George B. Lockwood, secretary to Governor Durbin, said last night "The apathy which characterized the 'offyear' campaign of two years ago was a source of constant anxiety and discouragement to the Republican state committee in 1902. No one knew what was going on under the placid surface of affairs, and it was felt that something must be done to get things going. Even speakers of wide repute had been speaking to benches of a greater or less degree of bareness, and there was a lack of interest in the issues of the campaign, apparently, which called for drastic

"It was determined to call upon the one friend of Senator Hanna. As chairman of man who, it was believed from the experiences of the campaign of 1900, was capable | an intimate political acquaintance of the of arousing the old-time enthusiasm in the senator, and learned much of his broader Republican rank and file, and after long statesmanship. The personal friendship of and earnest effort a promise was exacted to make a two days' tour of the State, When it was announced that Senator Han- | night: na was to visit Indiana the committee was overwhelmed with requests, demands and appeals for his presence, every county chairman in Indiana feeling, apparently, that a speech from Senator Hanna was essential to the political salvation of his com-

thoroughly to understand what has hap- munity. "An itinerary was finally arranged stretching from Evansville, in the 'Pocket, "His country and his party have suffered to Portland, on the eastern border of the ward to South Bend. It was my privilege journey was a revelation. Everywhere

Would You Stop Drinking If You Could? Tribute to the Late Senator Hanna "ORINE" is a safe, sure and harmless cure for the drink habit. Money refunded if it fails. Price $1 per box. Call for free book, Treatise on Drunkenness ! crowds that suggested the heat of a presi-

HENRY J. HUDER, Druggist, dential campaign year, everywhere an eager hanging on the simple, straight-Cor. Wash. & Penn. Sts., Indianapolis, forward words of Senator Hanna, and everywhere evidence that these words went home to hearts full of affection for and He was a lovable man of broad sympathics confidence in this man, who, within the ready recollection of every one, had been used as a political bugaboo. The Indianapolis meeting in Tomlinson Hall was in and drew very close to him men who had the best knowledge of the motives which actuated his life. 'He was honest, frank, courageous and inhesitating in his methods and possessed rare common sense "These, in my opinion, were the elements that made him the trusted and successful leader of men. He lived long enough for the people to become acquainted with his exalted patriotism and great statesman-

JOHN MITCHELL VALUED were literally acres of people, who had MR. HANNA'S FRIENDSHIP

"Senator Hanna was a friend of trades injonism, and as such I valued his friendship. Our acquaintance covered six or hear the sound of his voice. The meeting seven years," said President John Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers, last night. cluded, was similar in all its features to "His death was a distinct loss to the country," continued the labor leader. "We were good friends, and I was especially struck by Hanna's honesty. He was a mine operator and was always fair in his treatment of his employes."

Tom L. Johnson's Estimate.

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 15 .- Concerning the death of Senator Hanna, Mayor Tom L. Johnson said to-night: "Senator Hanna was the great representative of the political views of his party. He was intent, carnest and honest in his convictions. I sympathize with his bereaved family and his party in their loss."

FAIR, COLD TO-DAY;

FRESH NORTH WINDS WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 .- Forecast for

Tuesday and Wednesday: Indiana, Illinois and Lower Michigan-Fair, continued cold Tuesday. Wednesday publican state committee, said last night fair, not so coid; fresh north winds. Kentucky-Fair on Tuesday. Wednesday fair and warmer. Ohio-Fair and continued cold on Tuesday try loses one of its greatest men. No one and Wednesday, except snow flurries in northeast portion; fresh north winds. Wisconsin-Fair and continued cold on Tuesday. Wednesday increasing cloudiness and warmer; probably snow in west and extreme north portions; fresh north to northeast winds. Iowa-Fair and continued cold on Tuesday. Wednesday fair and warmer. North Dakota-Increasing cloudiness and not so cold on Tuesday. Wednesday snow. South Dakota-Partly cloudy and warmer on Tuesday. Wednesday snow. Nebraska-Cloudy on Tuesday; warmer in west portion. Wednesday warmer in east, snow in west portions.

of the toilers, and they never appealed to him in vain. He believed in the good sense Local Observations on Monday. Bar. Ther. R.H. Wind. Weather, Pre. 7 p. m..30.30 10 63 N'west, Cl'dy, 0.00 Maximum temperature, 16; minimum tem drove straight at a question, and always perature, 8. Comparative statement of mean temperature and total precipitation on Feb. 15

NAME OF A PARTY OF THE PARTY OF
	Temp.	Pi
Normal	32	9.
Mean	12
Departure for day	30	-
Departure for month	130	-
Departure since Jan. 1	321
Plus. W. T. I	n Direc	E, processed .
Vesterday's Tempera	tures.

Stations.	£ 10.	441.	Max.	r p. m
Abilene, Tex	. 2	8	56	5
marillo, Tex	. 2	8	70	- 5
tlanta, Ga	. 3	2	46	4
Dismarck N. D.	2	4	-12	-1
			8.03
Toler III	9	ž.	30 4 46	9
airo, ill.	- 1		4
laigary, Alberta	- 20	D .	40
hattanooga, Tenn	. 2	3	40
Theyenne, Wyo	. 2		54	9
Calro, Ill		Z	4	3 1
Incinnati, C	. 39	6	20	1
Cleveland, O Columbus, O Concordia, Kan	. 19	0	10	1
olumbus, O	. 13	2	18	1
'oppordia Kan	. 1	0	20	1
Davenport Is		0	12	- 1
Dantet Col	. 2	9	-56
Denver, Col	. 1		36	- 2
Jodge City, Kan			4	5.50
Oubuque, Ia	. 2		-2
Duluth, Minn,
CI PARA TAX	- 40	0	74
Jalveston, Tex	. 5	8	58	. 0
Galveston, Tex. Grand Junction, Col	. 4	2	56	. 5
Frand Rapids, Mich		Z	-2
lavre, Mont	-		6
Iuron, S. D	1	2	-4	200
Jolona Mont	. 9	2	16	1
lacksonville Fla	5	1	68	- 5
acasonvine, Lia.		6	20	1
acksonville, Fla Kansas City, Mo Lander, Wyo		e e	56
ander, Wyo		9	50	. 0
			90	n - 3
oulsville, Ky		8	38 26 -6	- 4
Marquette, Mich	1	2	-6	_
Memphis, Tenn	. 2	8	38
oulsville, Ky	. 3	2	56	1. 3
Modena, Utah Montgomery, Ala Nashville, Tenn New Orleans, La New York, N. Y Norfolk, Va North Platte, Neb Oklahoma, O. T. Omaha, Neb	. 3	8	52 36 62 28 46 18
Vashville Tenn	. 2	2	36
Yow Orleans La	. 5	8	62	3
Vow York N Y	. 9	6	28
Towfolk Va	3	9	46	- 2
North Diatte Noh	2 3	ě.	18	7
North Flatte, Med	. 0	9	10	- 1
New York, N. Y. Norfolk, Va. North Platte, Neb. Oklahoma, O. T. Omaha, Neb Palestine, Tex Parkersburg, W. Va. Philadelphia, Pa	· ·	o o	48 12
omaha, Neb		0	54
Palestine, Tex	* 8	Ď.	29	11/2
Parkersburg, W. Va	2	0	24 34
Philadelphia, Pa	. 3	U	34	1.0
Pittsburg, Pa	. 2	2	22
MEDIO, CON	em i m		66
Qu' Appelle, Assin		6	-2	-
Rapid City, S. D		-8	22 66 -2 2
St. Louis, Mo		4	20	7, 1
St. Louis, Mo St. Paul, Minn	1	6	6	-
Salt Lake City, Utah	3	2	56
San Antonio Tox		2	68	1 1 1
San Antonio, Tex Santa Fe, N. M		10	58	1 1 1 1 1
Shravanort In		18	20 6 56 66 58 56
Shreveport, La	 *	2	14
Springfield, Ill		9	14

Itching, Blind. Bleeding or Protruding Piles. Your druggist will refund money if PAZO OINT-MENT fails to cure you in 6 to 14 days. 50c.

Valentine, Neb

Washington, D. C